

Heal Ministry Partnership Guide

How Heal Ministry Can Empower Your Ministry

ONE BODY, MANY PARTS

"Just as a body, though one, has many parts, but all its many parts form one body, so it is with Christ."¹

When Paul wrote these words in his letter, he had a critical message to relay to the church in Corinth: the church is edified when many work as one. If you imagine a healthy person's body, I'm confident you don't picture one with only one functioning eye or someone who's feet attempt to go in different directions while they run. Rather, a body is proved healthy by the way in which all the parts operate in harmony with one another the way God intended them to.

As fellow leaders in ministry, perhaps we can see Paul's application of this metaphor particularly clearly. I believe God knew the needs of his people would be far too great for any one person or organization, which is why he gave people like us the vision for utilizing our giftings for meeting a very particular need through our ministries. Part of our vision at Heal Ministry is to foster healthy and edifying relationships between the church's different "body parts" (i.e. ministries) because we deeply believe that such partnership helps strengthen the body of Christ as a whole. With our unique focus of helping people experience God's goodness amidst physical suffering and your interest in becoming a Heal Ministry Partner, we see the potential for an edifying partnership. If you are interested in learning more about Heal Ministry to see if we would be a good fit for partnership with your ministry, we encourage you to keep reading to learn why we believe becoming a ministry partner with Heal Ministry will empower you to more effectively fulfill your mission.

The Mission

At Heal Ministry, we offer three primary things:
Community, Tools and Discipleship.

COMMUNITY

Finding community with people who are struggling in similar ways to you is an important step towards healing. That's why we offer resources for Heal Groups, our 6-week long in-person and virtual opportunities for men and women to explore the complexities of physical suffering via our Through the Fog series, an exploration into the complexities of physical suffering and God's healing. Learn more on the next page.

TOOLS

In addition to community, we have a growing library of tools that we share with our members to support them, including our online Kingdom Warrior Quiz, recommended books, newsletter, and church visit planning worksheet.

DISCIPLESHIP

Finally, we seek to disciple people into becoming more like Jesus. We understand you care deeply about your people and are probably quite protective of the resources you recommend to them. That's why we want to assure you of our commitment to producing discipleship content that always pushes people toward Jesus. Through every podcast interview, Bible Study, and Bible reading plan we produce, we make sure that what we teach is based in God's word and the Holy Spirit.¹

Our Beliefs

An Overview of Heal Ministry's Theology of Physical Suffering

At Heal Ministry, we believe God's heart is to free people who feel marginalized by their physical suffering (Psalm 34:18). So often physical suffering pulls our eyes off Christ and onto our suffering. While challenging, this suffering has the ability to remind us of our need for God and actually draw us closer to Him, but only when we allow them to. These are a few of our theological beliefs about pain:

Only God has the power to provide everlasting peace to those burdened with physical pain or limitation (Matthew 11:28).

God heals in the way that brings Him the most glory and draws us closest to Him (Philippians 3:10).

God's heart is to heal us physically, and that may be in this lifetime or it may be in the lifetime to come (John 11:21-26).

We believe in miraculous healing (Matthew 10:1-8), integrative/medical healing (1 Timothy 5:23), and ultimate/heavenly healing (1 Thessalonians 4:13-14).

We believe in asking God for healing while being surrendered to how and when He chooses to heal (Luke 22:42).

We believe that, while God cares about the state of our bodies, He is more concerned with our spiritual healing than our physical healing

(Matthew 10:28).

We believe physical pain is due to the fallen world sin created, though it can sometimes be due to contributing spiritual factors

(Psalm 38:2-7).

We do NOT believe in shaming people for their pain, but in giving them tools to walk in freedom through Christ, no matter what their healing looks like (John 9:1-3).

We believe that while chronic physical pain or limitation makes many activities challenging, a healthy and vibrant walk with the Lord involves some level of participation in his Church here on earth

(Hebrews 10:25, James 5:14).
